

THE GARLAND COMPANY, INC.®

Garland has been providing roofing and building envelope solutions to customers worldwide for more than 125 years, but our longevity in the industry is only half the story. It's the problems we've solved and the sense of relief our customers feel that serve as a true measure of our success.

Garland has always been driven by a simple philosophy – do what is right, no matter what. It's our steadfast commitment to those values that set us apart.

Partnership

Garland representatives are locally based, meaning they understand the unique challenges you face. They use that knowledge and their building industry expertise to work with you to develop comprehensive, proactive building envelope management plans.

People

We foster a unique corporate culture that positions our customer at the top of our organizational chart as the single, most important part of our organization. We've built our reputation on remaining dedicated to our customers and committed to our promises.

Excellence

Garland is a 100 percent employee-owned company so each employee has a very personal interest in its overall success. For that reason, Garland representatives stay very involved in projects to ensure their customers' expectations are continually exceeded.

Garland's comprehensive line of products and services encompass the entire building envelope, allowing us to solve virtually any type of exterior building problem.

Products

Our capabilities include high-performance modified bitumen roof systems, sustainable solutions, architectural structural metal options, and maintenance and restoration systems for new construction, retrofit and renovation.

Services

Our services are designed to help you every step of the way. We have a life-cycle cost analysis tool to help ensure your roof system will provide the best return on investment, engineering services to help with the design, performance and installation, and a roof asset management program for helping keep track of all your facilities' exterior building needs.

Support

Our field representatives are the most highly trained in our industry. They are able to provide customers with full-service support, from roof and building envelope inspections, detailed reports and specification writing, to project inspections and longer-term facility management support.
